EASTERN NEWS

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECESS—RATIFIED TREATIES—INDIAN PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Congress having taken a recess until the 21st of September it is understood that it shall not be incomplete in the Republican members to attend at that time unless they are notified on or before the 16th of September that their attendance is necessary by Senator Morgan and General Schenck, chairman of the Representative Wings of the Union Congressional Committee. A document to this effect has been signed by E. B. Washburne, Bingham, Boutwell, Julian, Hooper, Thomas, Garfield, Logan, McClurg and 82 other Republican members of the House.

The treaties with Mexico were ratified by the Senate on Saturday night. One relates to Claims and the other provides for the appointment of a Commissioner to settle claims, and the third settles the question of citizenship and expatriation on about the same terms as in the European treaties lately negotiated. A treaty with Russia providing for protection for trade marks was also ratified.

Congress yesterday passed a joint resolution empowering Gen. Sherman to restore to the Navajo Indians some four thousand of their women and children now held in bondage by the citizens of New Mexico, in spite of the laws of Congress and the proclamation of Mr. Lincoln. With the breaking up of this system in New Mexico by the military, the last remains of peonage on the continent will disappear.

THE NATIONAL AND NORTHWESTERN RAILROAD—ANOTHER KU KLUX OUTRAGE

[Despatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

NASHVILLE, July 24.—The stockholders of the Nashville and Northwestern Railroad after ten days heated discussion have decided that the bonds of the State issued to the road shall be issued and expended by the Receiver appointed by the Governor. It is now certain that immediate measures will be taken to put the road in running order again.

Hon. Wm. Wyatt, Senator from Lincoln and Franklin counties, reached this city yesterday. He states that last Saturday night a large party of Ku Klux visited his house, dragged him violently from his bed, despite the entreaties and screams of his wife and daughters, and after getting him out doors struck him over the head with a pistol, inflicting a deep wound. The cowardly scoundrels then made for their horses and left. Senator Wyatt has lived six years in Lincoln county, and is a man of unblemished character.

GREAT MEETING OF IRISHMEN—SPEECHES BY PROMINENT IRISHMEN

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

The Irish Republicans held a meeting yesterday at No. 107 East Madison street. The meeting was called to order by Mr. John P. Hodnett, who nominated Alderman Dixon as Chairman. The nomination was seconded and carried and Dixon took the Chair.

It was moved by Mr. P. O'Connor that Mr. Hodnett act as Secretary. Seconded and carried by acclamation.

Ald. Dixon, on taking the chair, thanked the gentlemen present for the honor conferred upon him. He believed the meeting was called for the purpose of establishing a Grant and Colfax Irish Club which would be the representative of the Irishmen in the great city of Chicago who had voted the Republican ticket for the last three years but got no credit for the same. This body, when organized, would consolidate the Irish Republicans of the North, West, South and East, and any man claiming to be an Irish Republican should identify himself as soon as possible with the organization so that we may be well represented in the party of liberty. [Cheers.]

Capt. Feeney called upon Mr. John F. Scanlan to state his views to the meeting as to the best means to be pursued.

Mr. Scanlan said he was in favor of immediate organization. Now was not a time for procrastination. If there were, as he believed there were, from five hundred to one thousand Irish Republicans in Chicago it was nearly time they were politically organized and officially recognized. He knew General Grant had saved the nation, he knew Republicanism would save it, and he had not the slightest doubt that there were enough of Republican Irishmen in Chicago to give the lie to the oft-repeated calumny of "voting cattle." He was in favor of instantaneous and earnest work and to fight it out on that line until the campaign ended.

Captain Metcalf called for the report of the Committee on Address appointed at last meeting.

Mr. Hodnett, as a member of that body, said he did not consider it advisable for the committee to act upon the matter at present, they being of opinion that this meeting should first take the direction of permanent organization, so that when the address would go forth as a public document it would be supported by the signatures and active co-operation of a body of independent Irishmen who were determined to fight under the banner of universal liberty though the heavens should fall. [Cheers.] He said that it was a noticeable fact that great numbers of Irishmen voted the Republican ticket in Chicago, but somehow they never got any credit for so doing. This meeting was called for the purpose of seeing that a fair representation be given to our people according to the number of their votes. Irishmen as a general thing cannot be bought, neither Democrat or Republican can get them to forsake their principles. If once convinced they will take sides and fight conscientiously and faithfully with any party they think right. Schuyler Colfax could count upon and would get the whole intelligent Irish vote of the United States simply because never since this country became independent have we had shown us so much friendship, and friendship which we did not deserve, as by this great and good Christian Republic. His speeches at our picnics and national demonstrations, his letter forwarding money to aid our starving kindred, his public vindication of Fenianism, his open and avowed declaration of sympathy in the House of Representatives—all have been noted, and like the records of the good man on the book of time shine out in all the effulgence and beauty of a noon day's summer sun. Contrast the actions of this man with the action of Horatio Seymour, he that refused to answer the letters of the Irish Executive Committee of the National Fair held some time since in Chicago, fearing that August Belmont, the English banker, would stop the pap. We need not speak of General Grant. You all know him. He has organized armies, conquered battalions of rebels who openly defied the Nation and Government and tore down the national emblem. Men say he does not make speeches. He has made speeches which will never be obliterated as long as time shall be—the same speeches that Washington made and were acknowledged by a humiliated enemy. It may be truly said of him

His pen was the sword
And his voice was the cannon.

For such speeches the people of America tender him the highest office in their gift, and acknowledge with pride the almost inestimable blessings he has rendered the Democracy of the whole world in preserving the only democratic country in the world from annihilation and total destruction. Irishmen have had their part in the fight and they will vote as they fought, for liberty and against oppression, for the Union and against its enemies, for Grant and Colfax and against Seymour and Blair and August Belmont, the English banker, for Ireland and against rich and despotic England. We know the Irish people want despots all they want is a plain statement of facts showing them that the Democratic party is run in the interest of England and that Horatio Seymour never uttered a syllable in favor of Irish freedom during the Fenian excitement in this country. [Cheers.]

[The meeting finally organized. The Irish Republican Grant and Colfax Club and Alderman Dixon President.]

EXPRESS ROBBERS HUNG BY A MOB

CINCINNATI, July 25.—Parker Moore and Jerrel, the Adams Express robbers who were arrested at Mattoon, Coles county, Ills., on Friday, arrived at Seymour, Ind., at half past ten o'clock last night and soon after left in a wagon, with a guard, for Brownstown, to be delivered to the Sheriff of Jackson county. When near the vicinity where Clifton, Elliott and Roseberry were hung, the wagon was suddenly surrounded by about one hundred and fifty armed men all masked. The guard were overpowered and the prisoners taken out and hung. At last accounts they were still hanging in the same trees where the others hung. Previous to the hanging the prisoners were questioned as to the numerous robberies which have occurred in Jackson county. It was with the exception of small depredations nothing was gained from them.

GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY AT HUDSON, MICHIGAN

[Despatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

HUDSON, Michigan, July 25.—A grand Republican rally was held here to-night and was a decided success both in point of numbers and enthusiasm. It was the intention of the committee to hold the meeting in the Congregational church, but the immense crowd that gathered at an early hour rendered an adjournment to the open air necessary. The meeting was addressed by Hon. Fernando C. Beaman, our present member of Congress and nominee for the same position, Representative J. K. Boies and Hon. C. M. Walker, of Adrian. The able and exhaustive speech of Mr. Beaman was listened to by the assembled audience with almost breathless attention. His argument on the great issues of the day—Reconstruction and finances—were pointed and unanswerable. He said the one great issue that the American people have to decide upon at the next election is shall the men who saved this government continue to have a hand in its management, or shall it be turned over to the Southern rebels and their friends at the North?

A piece of artillery attached to the famous Loomis Battery during the war, was in attendance and helped to keep up the general enthusiasm. The Tanners were out in full force and made a splendid appearance.

THE LAST DAY OF THE SESSION OF CONGRESS

[From the Cincinnati Commercial.]

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Congress practically ended its session to-night. Each house will meet pro forma on Monday, at 10 o'clock A. M. to enable the President to announce the signing of the bills. To-day's legislation, however, in both houses, has been important.

The first important bill which was enacted into a law, was that to protect the rights of American citizens abroad. This act provides that whenever it shall be made known to the President that any citizen of the United States has been unjustly deprived of his liberty, by or under the authority of any foreign Government, it shall be the duty of the President to forthwith demand of that Government the reasons for such imprisonment, and if it appears to be wrongful, and in violation of the rights of American citizenship, the President shall forthwith demand the release of such citizen, and if the release so demanded is unreasonably delayed or refused, it shall be the duty of the President to use such means, not amounting to acts of war, as he may think necessary and proper to obtain or effect such release, and all the facts and proceedings relative thereto shall as soon as practicable be communicated by the President to Congress.

In the Senate Mr. Ferry said the bill was an effort to change the laws of nations, and we would simply expose ourselves to the contempt of all the nations of the earth. The nays were Messrs. Ferry, Fessenden, Fowler, Howard and Van Winkle. Messrs. Sumner and Trumbull were in their seats but refused to vote when their names were called. The next bill was that continuing the Freedmen's Bureau in certain States after January 1 next and continuing General Howard in charge of it, to which the President objected in a brief veto, which was read and the bill passed over the veto by both houses by a strict party vote.

In addition to the above a large number of bills incorporating companies of a district and local nature were passed.

The bill to distribute arms to the Southern States was not acted on by the House, and has failed to become a law.

The most important measure which fails to become a law on account of the radical differences between the two houses is Senator Sherman's bill to consolidate the public debt and reduce the interest. There had not been for several days much prospect of reconciling the two bodies on all the features of the bill, but the hope of such an event was entirely abandoned this afternoon upon the meeting of the two conference committees.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS

[From the Chicago Tribune, July 28.]

We print this morning a correct and complete list of all the acts, public and private, and joint resolutions passed at the session of Congress which closed yesterday. The list is not so long as many of its predecessors, but it contains the titles of several laws which are destined to be landmarks in the history of our country. Among those of general importance are one extending till January 1, 1877, the time for completing the Northern Railroad to the Pacific; the Army Appropriation bill, reducing the expenditures from $86,000,000 to $33,000,000; the Navy Appropriation bill reducing the expenditures from $61,000,000 to $17,000,000; and other appropriation bills reducing the aggregate of the ordinary expenditures of the government to less than $120,000,000.

Other important acts are that granting appeals by the United States for judgment in the Court of Claims and providing for reorganization of the Attorney General's office with a view to giving proper attention to the national interest in that court; that appropriating and providing for carrying into effect the new policy adopted by the government for the Indians; that providing that in case of a vacancy in the office of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the duties of the office shall devolve on the ... upon the senior associate; that making eight hours a lawful day's work in the government workshops; that granting a new municipal charter to the city of Washington; that authorizing the sale of all iron clad vessels not needed for the service; a joint resolution requesting the President to intercede with the Queen of Great Britain for the release of the Rev. John McMahon, now a prisoner (Fenian) in Canada, and that removing political disabilities from several hundred persons at the South who had been engaged in the rebellion.

The revenue laws were amended in three particulars. The act of March 1868 repealed the revenue tax upon all articles of home manufacture, thereby remitting taxes to the amount of $... per annum upon all the articles which enter into domestic uses. The act of February 3 removes the tax from cotton which netted $25,000,000 per annum. The act of July remodels those portions of the excise law which relate to the taxes on spirits and tobacco, reducing the former to fifty cents a gallon of proof spirits payable at the distillery and imposing a tax on all sales by the wholesale or retail dealers. Instead of the meagre revenue of $13,000,000 per annum collected under the two dollars per gallon tax it is expected that a total revenue of $60,000,000 or more will be collected from this one article of manufacture. The reduction of the tax restores legitimacy to the business and opens an additional market for the sale of corn. The tax on tobacco is reduced 20 per cent. The same Congress ... the income tax nearly one half.

The treaty for the acquisition of Russian America was made complete by the appropriation by Congress of the purchase money.

Congress early in the session passed a law prohibiting any further contraction of the currency, and yesterday morning passed the bill authorizing the funding of the five twenty six per cents in bonds running for a long time and at a low rate of interest.

From the 22d of February until the 14th of May the time of both houses of Congress was taken up with the trial of Andrew Johnson.

The leading political acts of the session were those completing the work of reconstruction and fixing for the rebel States dates from which to compute their restoration to the Union. These acts are the laws recognizing the constitutions and State governments enacted in Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina and Georgia and the admission of Senators and Representatives of those States. They are the fulfilment of a new era in the history of each of those States and will be looked back to for a century as the crowning legislation of the great rebellion.

The act discontinuing the Freedmen's Bureau on the 1st of January next and authorizing the Secretary of War to discontinue it sooner at his discretion in certain States is the natural end of a bureau institution rendered no longer necessary by reconstruction.

The work of reconstruction was rendered more conclusive by the formal declaration that the fourteenth amendment had been ratified and is hereafter part of the Constitution of the United States.

A NEW DEMOCRATIC PAPER IN NEW YORK.—The New York correspondent of the Sacramento Union, writing on the 11th July says:

"Speaking of the Sun reminds me that it has entered into a very curious alliance ... with that eminent apostle of modern Democracy, Mark (Brick) Pomeroy. For a month or two the Sun has been outspoken in its admiration of the La Crosse Democrat and its editor as a ... of what is called 'positive Democracy.' This is now followed by the announcement that a fac simile of the sheet is to be issued in this city, and the Sun office will have the pleasure of nursing and bringing out the vile bantling which is to be edited by Pomeroy in person. Pomeroy, we are told, has grown rich and influential out of his La Crosse business and following the ... of his success to its principal source, he has settled in the congenial atmosphere of New York. The Sun office has for a week or two displayed a large illuminated sign announcing a branch of the La Crosse Democrat within the building. We are now informed that the new paper, to be called the New York Democrat, will be issued in a few days, and that it will contest with the World for the honor of leading the embattled hosts of Copperheadism in the coming campaign."

In March 1861 Mr. Russell, the ... correspondent of the London Times dined with Horatio Seymour, in New York, and gave the following account of the conversation:

"The occasion offered itself to Mr. Horatio Seymour to give me his views of the constitution of the United States, and by degrees ... over the table. * * * There was not a man who maintained that the government had any power to coerce the people of a State, or to force a State to remain in the Union or under the action of the Federal Government. * * * ... admitted the Southern leaders had ... the treason against the Union years ago, they ... not bring themselves to allow their old opponents, the Republicans now in power, to ... of the armed forces of the Union against their brother Democrats in the Southern States. * * * Mr. Seymour is a man of compromises, but his views go further than those which were ... by his party two years ago. Although ... would produce revolution, it was nevertheless, in his opinion, a right founded on abstract principles, which could scarcely be abrogated with due regard to the original compact."

A SIGNIFICANT ANAGRAM.—Some one has noted that the words "Vote for Horatio Seymour" contain the same letters as the following: "For you to have more riots." That is the ticket exactly. Seymour's "friends" will vote for it to a man. Whether they put the one inscription or the other on their transparencies, it will mean the same thing.

Every one of the Chinese boats, whether large or small, have eyes painted on them usually at the bow. With them it is a sort of Joss pigeon. They reason in this way: "Supposem he no got eye, how can see; supposem he no can see, how can sabbie; supposem he no can sabbie, how can walkee; supposem he no can walkee how can?"

Railroads vs Steamships

The days of steamships as the means of passenger transportation between the Atlantic and Pacific States are nearly ended. Already the overland communication between San Francisco and New York City is more than a week shorter than by steamer via Panama, and any of the cities west of the Lakes may be reached by rail and stage in less than one-half the time required by the steamship route. The passenger who leaves San Francisco at four o clock of any day when a steamship sails for Panama, may be in Chicago by way of the Pacific and Union Central Railroads and overland stage, while yet his acquaintance, who sailed by steamer for New York, is still sweltering under the tropical sun off the Central American coast. The time overland to Chicago is now reduced to a little less than eleven days, while by sea the average trip is about twenty-two days. New York is distant from Portland or San Francisco only about fourteen days, to the expeditious traveler, while mail communication is only two or three days longer. Chicago newspaper dates reach us quite regularly in thirteen to fourteen days.

The distance between the railroad termini is being daily reduced at a rate scarcely excelled in the history of railroad construction. Nothing is more certain than that the year 1869 will witness a most striking revolution in the course of travel and mail transportation [illegible] the Eastern and Western seaboards. It is now almost certain that during next year the great railway track across the continent will be completed, and then farewell to the glory of the steamships! The American people are habitually in too great a hurry to lose half an hour between San Francisco and New York, except under unavoidable stress, and they will never lose an opportunity to save sixty seconds in a journey of three thousand miles. Everybody will travel by rail, and leave the steamships to plod their [illegible] with only freights of merchandise for which the consignee can wait till the opening of the next business season. Already the travel across the plains is giving symptoms of large increase and the news from every quarter is that everybody and his wife and sons and daughters are packing their carpet bags in anticipation of the opening of railroad connection next year, from ocean to ocean.

The shortening of time across the continent will work as marked a revolution in the mail transportation of the country as in its travel. It was not long since that the average number of letters dispatched by steamer from San Francisco to New York was from eleven to twelve thousand per week. That number is vastly reduced while those sent overland are correspondingly increased. The average letter mail by the latter route is now over thirty-five thousand per week. When the railroad communication shall be completed, the cars will carry not only every letter and newspaper destined for the Pacific States and Territories, but all those destined for the Islands of the Pacific and the coast of Eastern Asia. The [illegible] [illegible] monopolize the public attention, and the arrival or departure of a steamship will [illegible] no sensation more lasting than the ripple of the waters parted by her prow.

The Democratic newspapers are trying hard to show that the revolution promised the country by Gen. Blair, is to be worked at the ballot box. [illegible] "We appeal only to the ballot," say they. We grant that the appeal is now to the ballot box; but the question submitted to the people is, will you elect a man to the Presidency who is forsworn to revolution, the dispersion by military power of State governments, the usurpation of the powers of Congress and the judiciary? The pledge to do all these things is contained in Blair's letter to Brodhead. That pledges the President elect to declare the reconstruction acts of Congress null and void, which only the judiciary can do, under the Constitution. It pledges him to help the Democrats of the House of Representatives in the matter of deciding what members shall sit in the House and in the Senate and what members shall not take seats, and it pledges that the President and such Democrats of the House will force the Senate to submit. It pledges the President to disperse the State governments of the South and to permit the people to organize others. The dispersion of the State governments can only be accomplished by using force; the organization of new governments can not be proceeded with, without some directory regulations, and if the President assume to make such regulations, his act would be an usurpation of legislative power. All this would amount to an entire ignoring of the Constitution, and the practical assumption of all the powers of all the departments of the government by one man. The President would be a Dictator and the people all slaves. The appeal to the ballot this fall, is to decide whether the people wish to plunge the country into such a cauldron of troubles. The issue is Grant and peace, or Seymour and revolution.

The London Spectator says that the Republicans of America will "have only to raise the cry of 'Grant and Honesty' to carry the whole country." There is a whole volume in that sentence—a volume of impartial denunciation of the dishonesty of the Democratic platform, and a volume of impartial eulogy of the distinguishing characteristic of the Republican nominee. The Spectator has stated the whole case. On the one hand is an honest, brave and loyal man with an honest, straightforward platform—on the other is a mere political intriguing trickster, with a platform putrid to the core with repudiation and dishonesty. As the American people are honest, they will pronounce for "Grant and Honesty."

Gen. Hancock has written a letter to a St Louis copperhead in which he thanks the delegates who voted for him in the New York Convention, goes into ecstacies over the nomination of Seymour, and—brands himself with the infamy of treason to the cause for which he fought in the late war. Unholy ambition has ruined many a greater man than Hancock.

General McClellan announces his intention of returning shortly to the United States and of taking the stump against General Grant. If Little Mac will go down to Richmond, he may succeed in getting up a greater stir among the rebels than he did when there before.

IDAHO

A [illegible] OF THE RECENT FIRE

From the Democrat of the 5th.

As we have predicted for some time we are at last a victim of a fire in Boise City. On Monday night about 11 o'clock, the building situated nearly opposite the Express office, was discovered to be on fire. In a shorter time than it takes to tell it, that entire portion of the block between the Masonic Hall and the corner opposite the Express office was in flames. It was instantly seen that it would be useless to attempt to save any of the buildings or their contents. The efforts of the hundreds who collected were directed to prevent the spread of the fire to the opposite side of the street, and to keep it within the bounds of that portion of the block where it originated.

The building in which the fire started is well known from the fact that it was originally the Masonic Hall and latterly the Democrat office. We were lucky enough to leave that locality some two months ago, since which time it has been occupied by Chinamen as a wash house. As far as we are able to learn, the fire originated from the carelessness of the Chinese occupants, as they had been smoking during the evening and had but a short time previous left the lower floor and were sleeping on the porch up stairs. It required the greatest effort to prevent the buildings on the opposite side of the streets from catching as the pitch was roasted out of the frame buildings and several times they caught and the flames running up the fronts threatening to destroy everything but for them. The fire raged furiously until the frame buildings between the stone building on the corner and the Masonic Hall were entirely consumed. Luckily the wind was from the North although at times it changed and would turn in whirlwinds and threaten all around. The Masonic Hall was thought to be on fire inside, but nothing but the casings of the door in the rear and the steps were burned. As soon as the flames subsided a little an entrance was effected by ladders into the back part of the building and the fire was extinguished with but comparatively little damage.

The following is a list of the buildings burned: J. H. Brown & May, frame building, next to Masonic Hall, and shop in rear; D. N. Hyde, next to Brown & May, building occupied as a paint shop and Probate Court room by R. L. Gillespie and H. W. O. Margary, law office; E. J. Curtis, Esq., building next to Hyde—occupied by C. F. Powell, Indian agent, and Dr. Keeler. Kline & Moreland next to Curtis, which was Junk & Co's photograph gallery, with a part vacant. Jerry Slocum, next to Kline & Moreland, occupied by Chinamen, where the fire started; then two vacant buildings belonging to Kline & Moreland.

The following are the losses as far as ascertained:

Brown & May (buildings)	$1 000
D. N. Hyde	1 200
H. W. O. Margary (books)	60
R. L. Gillespie (books and paints)	400
Ed. Shinn (upholsterer)	200
C. F. Powell (books and papers)	300
Dr. Keller, (greenbacks)	500
E. J. Curtis, (building)	1 500

Junk & Co (fixtures)	800
Masonic Hall, damages	500
Geo Stilts, (buildings)	500

Kohlberg & Co., damages	1 000
Litel & Co., damages	500
Dill & Montfort, damages	250
Total	$11 160

STATE ITEMS

The expenses of Umatilla county for the year ending June 30, 1868, amounted to $14 259 71.

The wagon road from Jacksonville to Ft Klamath is to be repaired and re-opened to travel, by private subscriptions of merchants and farmers of Jackson county.

The Umatilla Press says: The mass meeting, which was called at twelve on Saturday last to take into consideration the removal of the County Seat, appointed canvassers to obtain signers to the petitions to the Legislature for its aid, and then adjourned until the 20th inst.

Vallandigham, through the Dayton Ledger, characterizes the assaults made by Democratic newspapers upon the capacity and military services of Gen. Grant as "the weakest and most foolish thing that the Democratic press or orators can do." According to this estimate by Vallandigham the Herald of this city must be about the "weakest and most foolish" of the Democratic press, as it contains but little else than weak and foolish insults upon the capacity and military services of General Grant.

The Democratic press are engaged in the Herculean task of proving that Horatio Seymour was a loyal man during the rebellion. They find it an up hill business, but they are determined to do it if it takes them all summer. The Republicans have no such trouble with their candidate. The whole history of the rebellion is his voucher, subscribed and sworn to.

General Grant has notified Andrew Johnson that he will move immediately upon his works. Seymour, as during the late war, is intriguing for a counter revolution, to cripple the Union advance. The orphan asylums throughout the country should immediately take out fire insurance policies.

A Democrat of over forty years' standing, in Indianapolis, remarked the other day: "The nominations at New York are the most popular nominations ever made in this country." Upon being asked to give his reasons, he replied: "Because those nominations please all the Republicans and nearly half the Democrats."

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says: "It is a significant fact that several young men, who were formerly prominent in the Democratic councils of this city, have been unable to 'go' the nomination of Seymour and Blair and have expressed their determination to vote against that ticket."

Wade Hampton says: "Insist that if a majority of white voters give the Electoral College to Seymour and Blair that they shall be put in the White House at the point of the bayonet." The World says there is nothing objectionable in this, and declares the contrary course would be craven.

Doolittle says that Seymour can't be elected without the support of the "conservative Republicans." As the survivors of that part are supposed to be only three in number, Mr. Doolittle evidently does not hope for a very large majority.

An old soldier who has lost an arm says: "I am waiting to see if the people of this country are going to elect Horatio Seymour, and if they do I will swear that I lost my arm in a threshing machine, not in defence of my country."

EXTINGUISHER
SELF-ACTING FIRE ENGINE.

THIS INVENTION HAS FOR ITS OBJECT THE extinguishing of Fires in a more instantaneous manner than has hitherto been discovered.

The advantages to be derived from the use of the EXTINGUISHER are as follows:

Every fire begins in a small scale and its rapid and uncontrollable increase is owing to the fact that at the time of its commencement (when every moment's delay in checking it is of the utmost importance) no means are ready at hand.

The EXTINGUISHER is the only Engine that fills this requirement.

It is always ready for use, though standing unused for years.

It puts out Fire instantly.

It saves the great deluge of water now used for this purpose.

It is as effective in the hands of a Boy as the most experienced Fireman.

It is portable and as easily handled as a bucket of water.

It possesses within itself the power of a force pump and as effective as a Steam Engine.

It is the only known invention that will put out Fires from Kerosene, Tar, Naphthaline and combustible materials now in common use.

PRICE—No 1, $50. No 2, $65. No 3, $80.

THE STAFFORD PAVEMENT.—This new patent pavement is attracting a good deal of attention at the East, many [illegible] that it is superior to the Nicholson in durability and the facility with which the streets on which it is laid are drained. It is said that it will last forty or fifty years, and, further, that being so constructed as to prevent the penetration of water between the blocks of wood, no dampness settles upon the bed of the pavement, [illegible] less liable to breed malaria. On this [illegible] it is to be the most conducive to health of any yet invented. The Nicholson, as far as tried in this city, certainly [illegible] to be about as near all that can be [illegible] as possible and as to its durability [illegible] how long it will last as after its constant use it is not in the least perceptible [illegible] worn away. The construction and the repairs which the former time will require upon any kind of stone pavement, would more than build a wooden one and the repairs upon the kind last named amount to a small sum [illegible] that in the long run the wooden one is decidedly the [illegible] structure.

WHAT IS MORE PLEASANT?—Than to quit the dust and heat and bustle of the city and while the warm [illegible] of camp life to pack up a little [illegible] the green shady forests and over rolling prairies among the quiet farm houses and fields of waving grain to go where Nature [illegible] and [illegible] the petty strifes of busy men give the mind [illegible] relaxation and rest which is so much enjoyed and which furnishes the vivacity which [illegible] long [illegible] confinement to walls of brick and mortar. Such is the view which many from [illegible] during the present warm and dusty [illegible] the Cascade mountains [illegible] others to Clatsop beach [illegible] East Portland passed [illegible] Alsea Bay, with every [illegible] keep the pleasure seekers comfortable [illegible] a camp life of several weeks. Many persons from this city have made the trip to that [illegible] and all at present it as affording every means of enjoying a pleasant voyage.

SWAN ISLAND BAR.—Now that the river has reached a sufficiently low stage of water, the work of dredging Swan Island Bar has been again commenced in good earnest. It is, of course, [illegible] the obstructions to navigation which present themselves at this point as we have been informed that in the sand and [illegible] accumulating for ages, perhaps in the bed of the river at this point large trees [illegible] imbedded which render the work necessarily slow, and frequent breakages in the machinery [illegible] unavoidable. A slight breakage [illegible] the work for a short time, but the broken [illegible] brought up to the city, repaired and taken back immediately. This bar has long been [illegible] the rapid improvement of our city, and we trust that the present season will result entirely [illegible] others who have [illegible] failure [illegible] the energy and [illegible] it was [illegible] naught.

NEW MAIL ROUTES.—We learn from Postal Agent Q. A. Brooks that the Act of Congress establishing the following mail routes in Oregon passed the Senate on the 21st ult., viz:

From Portland by Tualatin Ferry [illegible] to Amity, Rickreall and Monmouth [illegible] Corvallis.

From Dallas by Salt Creek and [illegible] to [illegible].

From Astoria to Tillamook.

From Fairfield to [illegible] Wasco via Parkersville and Monitor to Neals.

It is presumed that the act creating these routes passed the House of Representatives before the adjournment of Congress.

These newly established lines will supply a large number of people whose facilities have been somewhat limited heretofore. We hope the time is at hand when Oregon will receive at least a portion of her share of the attention of Congress in regard to such matters.

SMALL POX.—The season is now so far advanced that we have but little fear that this disease will reach our city. However, it is doubtless still prevailing at San Francisco to some extent and it may be well for us to guard ourselves as well as we may from its introduction here. The London Scalpel, considered as very high authority in the medical world, gives the following as an infallible cure for small pox and scarlet fever: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove (digitalis) one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar; mixed with two table spoonsful of water; take a spoonful every hour. For [illegible] small doses according to age. If countries will compel their physicians to use this, there will be no need of pest houses.

SILVER ORE.—We were shown yesterday by Mr. Dray a specimen of grayish quartz, said to contain silver ore which was discovered on the Kalama river, in Cowlitz county, W. T., by Messrs. Gerty & Spears. We should think from the appearance and weight of this specimen—not having tested it—that it contains metal of some kind but of what character or how precious our knowledge of such matters does not enable us to state.

BEFORE THE CITY COURT.—Yesterday five cases were disposed of by His Honor Recorder Hoffman, the defendants being charged with violation of city ordinances. Three of them were for carrying on the business of peddlers without license, and these were all discharged. Two men were charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, of which one was sent to jail for five days and the other was discharged.

STICKNEY'S PARIS EXPOSITION CIRCUS.—This celebrated circus will be in Portland next week and give two or more of their wonderful performances. From notices in the California Press, and from the opinions of those who have witnessed their exhibitions, we judge that they far surpass in the variety and brilliancy of their performances any troupe ever before on the Pacific coast.

VARIETY TROUPE.—Standley's Variety Troupe will arrive here from the Dalles to-morrow and will perform in this city before their departure for California. They present a fine array of talent and all lovers of amusement will find their time well engaged attending the performances of this troupe. Due notice will be given of their opening entertainment.

NORTH PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Congress has extended the time for commencing work on the North Pacific Railroad. The Company is required to commence work within two years from July 2d, 1868, and construct, equip, furnish and complete not less than 100 miles each year thereafter, and complete the entire road from Lake Superior to Puget Sound inside of nine years.

OREGON PRODUCTS.—By the river steamers yesterday and the day previous, were received 240 sks flour, 515 sks middlings, 62 gunnies oats, 5 rolls leather, 10 boxes fruit, 3 cases bacon, 2 bales woolen goods, 2 bales mdse, 2 boxes eggs and 1 doz chickens.

FURNITURE SALE.—Auctioneer Richardson will sell a lot of fine household furniture at the residence of H. W. Rampleye, corner of Third and Alder streets, this day at ten o'clock A. M. Attend this sale and you will be sure to get good bargains.

DUE.—The steamer Active, from Victoria, is now due but had not arrived at the hour of going to press.

The French ship from China, reported off the bar some days ago, has not been heard from since the Wright passed her at sea on the 10th.

FAILED TO REACH US.—The Daily Unionist failed to reach us last night. We should be sorry to miss this paper, as it is the only daily means we have of hearing from the people at the Capital.

ASSESSMENTS DUE.—Those interested will take notice that the assessment for repairing Front street from Pine to Harrison, is now due and payable at the office of the City Treasurer.

Francis P. Blair.

The Helena (Montana) Herald, thus polishes off Frank P. Blair:

That member of the Blair family who is hitched on for a tail to the Democratic kite, is one of the weakest of the little great men with which this country has been cursed. He comes from a family notorious for trickery, sycophancy and place seeking, and has always had the good fortune to turn up in some position, just about the time that he could harm his friends and associates the most by his ill omened presence. Even the veteran wire puller of Albany, Thurlow Weed, distrusted the illustrious family of which F. P., Jr., is the brightest ornament, and pithily remarked that "they were always in somebody's mess, but in nobody's watch." Lincoln dabbled in Blair stock for a while, having one of the 'everlasting' family in his cabinet, but the investment was poor, the dividends nothing but tricks and obstinacy, and the miserable shyster was quietly removed with the whispered caution to a few friends "beware of Blair." The political renegade, F. P., Jr., whose praises even Tammany could not sing in an exultant strain floats even in Horatio Seymour's wake like a shark behind a whale. He was born in Kentucky, raised in Missouri, and began his political career as a member of the State Legislature in 1852. He was sent to Congress in 1856 and 1860. He was re-elected, or thought he was, in 1862, but his seat was contested, and he gave way to become a Major General of volunteers. His loyalty did not outlast the war. His natural meanness would not allow him to keep in accord with the sentiment of the community, and his talents were soon turned in the direction they are running now. He was dangerous to the Republican party while recognized as a member and will be equally dangerous to those with whom he has cast his lot for a season. He has no principles, no stability of character and no conscience, and is only fitted for petty pot-house wire pulling. It is hardly probable that a weaker man could have been picked up among the thousand and one renegades whose divinity is the demon of selfishness and this selection does not reflect much credit upon the shrewdness of the Democracy.

The New York Express asks "Who saved the National Capital when Lee marched into Pennsylvania?" and gravely answers "Horatio Seymour." Now we always supposed that General George G. Meade and his gallant army were the boys that did that handsome job and that while they were doing it Horatio Seymour was making a speech in New York to prove the war a failure.

The Southern Democratic papers hoist the "Stars and Bars" over the Democratic nominations. This is proper. Seymour will see stars before he gets through and Blair knows already all the bars in the country.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned and placed on their guard against this practice.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or

PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient as well as upon the liver it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent [illegible] of all [illegible] it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

McClernand 1863

[illegible] was suggested in a speech [illegible] McClernand [illegible] Sept [illegible] 1863. He then [illegible]

As long as the slavery [illegible] in the way [illegible] but [illegible] should [illegible] the way because [illegible] urgently present [illegible] purpose [illegible] the letter will be made [illegible] a necessary before there can [illegible] States [illegible] pupilage [illegible] war has prevailed [illegible] that it will break up [illegible] settled basis of peace [Applause] [illegible] want these States brought back in a way [illegible] permit [illegible] the [illegible] difficult again [illegible] [Applause] The speaker [illegible] the folly of the attempt [illegible]

THE RATIO [illegible] NEW YORK.—The New York Tribune of July 9th says:

The Hon [illegible] A Griswold of Troy has been nominated by the Republican State Convention for Governor. We have this acquaintance and [illegible] the best that could have been made. Mr Griswold has long been extensively and successfully engaged in the [illegible] at Troy and is esteemed and beloved by thousands who have found profitable employment in his works. He resolutely [illegible] public service until 1862 when he was nominated for Congress as a [illegible] and elected in that strongly Republican District by 1,28[illegible] majority. Entering the House in December 1863 he threw his whole weight into the scale of his country, proving himself a war Democrat indeed on whom there was no drawback. He fought it out on that line, supporting Lincoln's re-election and being himself re-elected on the war ticket by a largely increased majority and he was again overwhelmingly re-elected in 1866. Such is the man we have chosen to lead the Republican column under the banner of Grant and Colfax, in our opening struggle. We are confident that he will lead it to victory. He has never yet been defeated, and he cannot now be.

GET AN EARLY BREAKFAST.—A bad custom is prevalent in many families, especially among farmers, of working an hour or two before breakfast, attending to chores, hoeing in the garden, cutting wood, etc. This is convenient in many accounts, but it is not conducive to health. The prevalent opinion is that the morning air is the purest and most healthful and bracing, but the contrary is the fact. At no hour of the day is the air more filled with dampness, fogs and miasmas than about sunrise. The heat of the sun gradually dissipates these miasmatic influences as the day advances. An early meal braces up the system against these external influences. Every one knows the languor and faintness often experienced for the first hour in the morning, and that this is increased by exercise and want of food. We do not agree with the boarding school regime which prescribes a long walk before breakfast as a means of promoting health. Probably the best custom would be to furnish every member of the family, especially those who labor out of doors, with a single cup of warm coffee, well milked, immediately after rising from bed. Then let them attend to chores, mowing, hoeing, etc., for an hour or two while the teams are feeding, and the breakfast preparing. They will feel better and do more work.

A DUTCH JUDGMENT.—"May it please the court," said a lawyer before a Dutch judge, this is a case of the greatest importance, while the American eagle, whose sleepless eye watches the welfare of this mighty republic, and whose wings extend from the Allegheny to the rocky chain of the west, rejoicing in his pride of place."

"Shtop dare! shtop. Isay! Vat has dis nut to do mit eagles. It has nothing to do mit the wild birds. It is your sheep," said the justice.

"That is true, your honor, but my client has rights."

"Your client has no rights to de eagle."

"Of course not; but the laws of language—"

"Vat care I for the de laws of language eh? I understand de law of de State and dat has enough for me."

"Well then, my client the defendant in this case is charged with stealing a sheep and—"

"Dat will do! dat will do! Your client is charged mit stealing a sheep. Dat is about $9. De Court will adjourn."

And it did adjourn, for the Justice was not a respecter of legal rights nor legal quibbles.

A newly appointed English justice of the peace who could hardly read, in looking over the statute book, found an old law against firing a beacon or carrying a beacon to be fired after nine o'clock at night, and mistaking it for a statute against frying bacon, he kept watch with his nose, and having scented out a poor family who were frying bacon after nine o'clock, he had them all locked up, for which outrage the magisterial donkey had to pay £40 ($200) damages.

[illegible] Verdant young man from "Down East," who was peering curiously into shop windows on Broadway, was rudely asked by the proprietor of a customer's [illegible] what he wanted. "I wanted to see what you sell here," replied the young countryman. "We sell fools," was the response. "Well," said the Down Easter, "[illegible] must do a good business, for you're the only one left."

A Berkshire paper says that a fellow in that vicinity went courting his girl Sunday evening, and wishing to be conversational, observed:

"The thermometer is twenty degrees below zero this even."

"Yes," innocently replied the maiden, "[illegible] kind of birds do fly higher some seasons of the year than others."

A banker lent a graceless scamp five dollars in the hope of getting rid of him, but to his surprise the fellow paid the money punctually on the day agreed upon. A short time afterwards he applied to him for another loan. "No," said the banker; you have deceived me once, and I am resolved you shan't do it a second time."

An affected young lady seated in a rocking chair reading the Bible, exclaimed: "Mother, here is a grammatical error in the Bible." The mother lowering her specs and approaching the reader in a very scrutinizing attitude, said: "Kill it! kill it! It is the thing that has been eating the leaves and book marks."

Bergh has informed Mayor Hoffman of New York that hydrophobia only afflicts masculine dogs, and that feminine representatives of the canine tribe, unlike those of the humane species, never get mad. Bergh therefore asks that dogs of the gentler sex may be spared the horrors of the pound.

As a corpulent lady was getting into a Broadway omnibus, the other afternoon, a cross-grained passenger growled out: "Omnibusses were not intended for elephants," whereupon the lady [illegible] at him significantly, said, "An omnibus, like Noah's Ark, seems intended for all kinds of [illegible]."

"My dear," said a lady to her husband, "[illegible] friends here will not believe me, when I say I'm only forty years old. You know that I speak the truth, don't you?" "I certainly shall not deny it, my love, since you have stuck to the point for the last dozen years to my certain knowledge."

A writer in Lippincott's Magazine thinks that Rachael and Edwin Booth rose above each other wonderfully and gives a very fine little bit of descriptive English to prove it.

One of most taking tricks of the French version of "No Thoroughfare"— L. Alamie— is one by which the audience seem to hear the crunching of snow under the feet of the actors.

As there are a great many people sick and dying of a disease called Cholera Morbus, I would call attention to the Chinese Doctor Jim. Having eaten green fruit I was taken very bad with the above disease and lay insensible for [illegible] hours when Dr. Jim was called at [illegible] 20 [illegible] [illegible] He gave me the first dose of medicine and I was easy and asleep.
